

CITY OF MIDLAND WATER RATES

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW

New rates are in effect for 2014.

The City's water and sewer services are self-funded, meaning they generate their own revenue through providing water and wastewater services to Midlanders in order to break even on the cost of infrastructure and delivery.

Before water is delivered to residents and businesses in Midland, the City must first buy it from various entities. The revenue generated from new rates must allow the City to break even on these costs, which are rising due to the increasing price of delivering water in the midst of a drought.
